

A Prayer For Those With Grief In Their Heart

Dearest Lady,

We ask today that all who are here & any who later come upon this prayer be blessed, nurtured, and comforted by the healing powers of Heaven. Whatever be your belief in the Divine, what term you use in your spiritual beliefs, God, Spirit, Holy Presence we ask now to reach into the hearts and lives of each of us who have experienced the loss of a beloved fur family member(s). Regardless of the time which has passed in our hearts and lives, the memory of the life and love that is now gone or which will be gone soon, lies very close to the surface of our souls – even when buried deeply with time the memory remains forever with us.

I ask, Divine Spirit of Love, who created Heaven and Earth, who created those very lives and has now or will soon reclaim them, to send down upon us a golden balm of healing, peace, and serenity to layover and seep into the pain in our souls. Help us to know that true strength of spirit lies not in burying the love, lies not in refusing to allow love again, nor does it mean allowing the pain to define our lives through the loss.

Help us to acknowledge, accept and allay the reality of the loss. Send to our hearts and minds those lessons which come with the loving and the loss – if we were not ready then, help us to be ready now to look and to understand the truth of that relationship(s).

Support us in being gentle with ourselves as we examine that time of love and help us to see where we had mistakes in understanding what was necessary for our beloved, where our choices and decisions may have created outcomes that we regretted – show us and help us to understand the very truth that no matter how, what, when or why – each time we were in a relationship with our beloved pets, that we did the very best we could with the information that we had at the time.

Clear our sight and our memories of the stories that we have told ourselves. Sweep over our hearts and minds with golden crystals a purity and clarity - imbue us with them and let this become our truth and honor it – that the time and the relationships with our beloved pets, all that transpired - was agreed upon in spirit by us, by our pets Dash It began, flowed and ended exactly as it was meant to and that there was no judgment.

Through Divine Spirit, help us from here forth, to know within our hearts and minds that we were and are so very deeply loved by those we have lost, that they hold us only in love and that they are always with us in spirit.

Clear from our eyes and minds any false belief that we may still hold about ourselves and our beloved pets. Guide us to a deeper understanding that they are with us, guide us and even at times come back to us - help us to know that the dream we had about them was real or that glimpse out of the corner of our eye, or that feeling of a presence beside us.

Allow us to understand that as we are all different, so are the ways we grieve and celebrate the lives of those we have loved - help us understand that there is no right or wrong way to remember their lives or to get through the pain. Without judgment towards ourselves or others who may have different or unusual beliefs, help us collectively and individually to allow for the idea that we just may not understand all the ways of Heaven and Spirit, that we all that we have all been brought together to share, to celebrate, to experience life love and the memories of our beloved pets.

And when we leave and return to our lives, open our hearts to all the possibilities of love now and in the future with our furbabies & those yet to come. Let us accept all that they have to offer us, lessons, love & life, with open hearts. And when our hearts break in moments, help us to know that we are not and have never been alone, lift us up and heal those moments, Help us to know that we are not and never have been alone, lift us up and heal those moments. Help us to reach out, to reach up and feel the love that has never left us.

Help us to be better, to be more compassionate in all ways and to remember that our pets are only on loan to us from On High and that when they leave us, they are only being called home truly.

Bless all who are here and be with them as they go forth into their lives and give the courage to continue loving to remember only with love and to know what with sureness is that they will one day be united with their beloved(s).

Thank you, Dearest Lady
